LETTER FROM WASHINGTON

President's Message Most Voluminous Ever Printed.

California Girls Refuse to Dance With Japanese Naval Officers.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—The Pasadena, California girls refuse to dance with the Japanese naval officers; the ball is called off; the Japanese admiral in high dudgeon sails away, and all Japan resents the affront. The Pasadena girls were with in their rights and they have the sympathy of California girls and the girls of the United States. But what about this International Exposition for which California and the Pacific coast is clamoring? The support of that Exposition, if held at San Francisco must come from the Orient. We all know the attitude of San Francisco to the Orient. It very recently brought us to the verge of war with Japan, and there are possibilities of serious trouble in an International Exposition held on the Pacific slope. The proper place for an exposition to celebrate the completion of the Panama Canal will be the capital of the United States. New Orleans, San Francisco? "a plague on both your houses!"

The Secretary of War has just returned from the Philippines by way of Asia and Europe, bring the somewhat tribe information that our Malayan acquisition from Spain is not fit for self-government. Well what country ever was fit? The real difference is that the Philippines are less fit, or least fit. It is a positive benediction to some countries like India, Egypt and the Philippines to be governed by an Anglo-Saxon people. All children need guidance and control, and these people are not only "half devil and half child," but "devil, ostrich and orphan child in one."

The President's message is the most voluminous ever printed, and is generally considered to be an important and up-to-date document, few readers will pursue it from end to end and the epitomes furnished by the press are excellent as they save. The President earnestly favors the fortification of the Panama Canal, and surely if it is worth digging it is worth defending. Without fortification it could be destroyed by a few pounds of dynamite in a single night. To fortify the Canal is no challenge to the peace of the world. International interests demand its protection.

The Secretary of Agriculture has now completed his most optimistic of reports. The value of the Agricultural products of the country in 1910 is estimated at $3,926,000,000, and Mr. Wilson says that at no time in the world's history has a country equalled this record. It is quite probable that those even who are now past middle age may see an agricultural output equalling in value one trillion of dollars.

The recommendation of the Secretary of Agriculture to eliminate middle-men and for co-operative organizations of farmers and co-operative societies of consumers to get together, shortening the distance between the farm and the dinner-table is well worth of consideration and action.

There is expectation that the recently elected congress will be less under the hypnotism of the express companies and more mindful of the popular demand for a parcels post than past Congresses have been. The President in his message urges legislation authorizing the Post Office Department to transport packages in the mails at reasonable rates with reasonable limitations as to bulk and weight. The present mailing conditions are more unreasonable, having been dictated by the express companies to throw the cream of the carrying business in their direction. The backwardness of our country in this modern postal facility is shameful, for the parcels post is existent even in such countries as China, Japan, Africa, Australia, Asia Minor,

Turkey and Korea, to say nothing of European countries.

Senator LaFollette is by odds the "Independentist" Senator in the United States. Most Senators, when invited to the White House for consultation accept the honor as a command. Not so Senator LaFollette. He wrote the President a little note saying in substance, "I will, if consistent with my sense of duty, approve your appointments to the Supreme Bench, but beware that your appointments have clean records or I'll oppose their confirmation by the Senate."

Serious Accident Near Sunnydale.

John Daffron, wife and two children, who live near Sunnydale were all wounded pretty badly Tuesday afternoon, when a dynamite cap, with wire attached, exploded in Mr. Daffron's hand, tearing one finger off of Mr. Daffron's hand and seriously mangle five other fingers and his thumbs. It seems that the wire had been around the house for several weeks, and it is thought to be some of the property which the railroad company had overlooked and failed to carry away with them. Daffron had no idea that the wire was dangerous, and was in the house with his family and filling in it, when it exploded. Particles of the fire hit his wife in the face and made some very bad wounds. Other places hit the two small children, but they were not injured as badly as their mother.

West Kentucky Seminary Notes.

The pupils of the high school department are now very busy preparing for the examinations which will be held next week.

Next Wednesday afternoon a recital will be given by the music pupils.

Rev. Wright conducted chapel exercises Monday Morning. He is always a welcome visitor and we hope he will come again soon.

HOGS JUMP 30 CENTS AND WILL GO HIGHER.

Chicago Packers Buy Frantically But Demand is Not Supplied; Receipts Very Low.

Chicago Dec. 15.—The price of hogs at the stock yards has jumped almost out of sight and it is declared that pork will go to a figure never before known in Chicago. The market opened up Saturday 30 cents higher than it closed Friday and the big packers bought frantically. It is said that the packers and buyers have just awakened to the fact that the country is not full of hogs, as has been confidently supposed but that there is nowhere near the supply that there should be.

Armour and Swift were the heavy buyers and they did not seem to care how much they had to pay for hogs just so as they got hold of enough of them to keep the killing departments busy. Most of them bought in the cars and rushed the animals to the killing pens as fast as possible. In the last week the total receipts of hogs at the five big hog centers, Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, Omaha and St. Joseph, Mo., have totaled just 287,000. The normal supply should be in the neighborhood of half a million a week.

The packers say that if the farmers have hogs they are holding them back from the market and that the supply will not start to moving in a normal manner until after the holidays. In the meantime butchers are predicting that pork will be as expensive as steak unless something happens to lower the high prices.

AN APPEAL FOR OUR ADVERTISERS.

Friends of this paper are earnestly requested to take note of those who patronize us in the way of advertising and especially to the large number of liberal business men who are with us in this issue. Our readers are URGED TO PATRONIZE HOME MERCHANTS in the matter of their Christmas purchases. Remember when you want a donation for a charitable purpose, or to help your church etc., you do not go to Louisville, or Owensboro to solicit.

Moral: Patronize those to whom you of necessity look for assistance. The following is a list of the merchants who in this mammoth issue of the Hartford Republican join us in a cordial invitation to visit their establishments:

MEAT PRICES SURE TO RISE, RANCHMAN SAYS

Ranges Have Been Cut Up, He Argues, with Result That Cattle Output is Very Low.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 15.—"No more low-priced beef," is the statement made by A. J. Blackstone of Cody Wyo., a member of the executive committee of the Wyoming Stock Growers' association, who is here for a few days. Continuing he said: During the last two years Wyoming and South Dakota, which constituted the range of the country, have been cut up, and the land settled upon by farmers. This has driven the cattlemen out of business. Besides, last summer our range was almost totally destroyed by drought. The result has been that the market has been flooded with range beef cattle, and consequently prices dropped to a low level. They reached the bottom, and now have turned.

Christmas Bazaar Closes.

The sixth annual bazaar held by the ladies of the Methodist church closed Wednesday night with great success. Realizing from their sales and lunches and candy pulling $160.00 The ladies deserve great credit for working together with so much zeal and willingness in the interest of the new Methodist church. Having raised over $1200.00 since their organization. Each year they renew their efforts in the good work, and they have great hope that some plan be made to begin the new church in the spring and that every member of the church will do all they can for this cause.

Killed at Cromwell.

A deplorable accident occurred about two miles from Cromwell early Tuesday afternoon when by an accidental discharge of a gun he was carrying, Mr. Gus Gilstrap, son of Mr. Willis Gilstrap, was instantly killed. Young Gilstrap was hunting with Mr. Clarence James and they had found a rabbit under a pile of brush. Gilstrap used his gun to stir the rabbit and in this manner the gun was discharged, the shot taking effect right under the chin.

Mr. Gilstrap was about twenty years of age and a prominent Maccabee, and known to many of that order in Hartford. A brother in Oklahoma, a father and mother survive the young man. The funeral and burial took place at Cromwell Thursday.

SHOT WHILE GOING TO SEE PATIENT.

Dr. Duff Gets Bird Shot in His Lip Wednesday Afternoon Near Sunnydale.

Another accident from a bird hunter came near resulting quite seriously Wednesday afternoon, when Dr. J. A. Duff, of Dundas, was shot while on his way to see a patient, when the day before was nearly killed by a dynamite explosion.

Dr. Duff was near Marvins Chapel at Sunnydale when the accident occurred. He saw the hunter and tried to attract his attention and tell him to be careful where he was shooting. The hunter, Earl Burton, had fired on a shot already and before he saw the doctor he fired another, and the shot rained all around Dr. Duff, who was riding his horse. One shot took effect in the lower lip, and others would have painfully hurt him had not he worn a very heavy overcoat. Dr. Duff went to see his patient, and hurried to Sunnydale and caught the passenger train to this city, where the shot was extracted by Dr. E. W. Ford and Dr. S. J. Wedding.

Big Hats and the Gospel.

"The Ministerial Association of Johnson City, Tenn., met on Wednesday and issued an address to the women of that city, appealing to them to remove their hats at Sunday evening church services. Every minister but one in the town signed the address which states that the clerical objection is not because the hats are not lovely, but because it is felt that removal of them will allow the Gospel to have full power."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Hartford Lodge No. 675 F. & A. M. had some splendid work in the first degree at the last regular meeting and the work of the Master was highly complimented by a visitor who said that he had visited lodges all over Kentucky, but had never seen the work put on so well as on that occasion. Cow Killed By Hunters.

One day last week a valuable cow was killed for Mrs. Amelens Sandorf, a widow who lives near Prentiss by quail hunters. Mrs. Sandorf had just paid $35 for the cow and being in moderate circumstances it is quite a heavy loss. After the cow was shot it lingered several days before it died. It is reported that Mrs. Sandorf also lost some hogs in the same manner. The parties who did the shooting are unknown but if they have a spark of manhood in them they will replace this loss with damages. It is no wonder that the farmers are becoming more and more opposed to hunters visiting their lands during the quail season. The wonder is that any of them permit it at all.

STATE UNIVERSITY WANTS MR. RHOADS

Makes Offer of Chair to Owensboro Educator

Has Already Received Offer From State Department—May Leave Owensboro.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 13.—Sapient Mr. Henry R. Rhoads, of the Owensboro public schools, who recently was appointed to look after the high school work in Kentucky for the General Education board, and at the meeting of the trustees of the State university which convenes Tuesday it is almost certain that the directors will vote in favor of the establishment of the chair and that it will be offered to Superintendent Rhoads.

The offer of the General Education board, subject to the action of the directors of State university, was made some time ago, and it is understood that it has been heartily approved by President Emorys James K. Patterson and by President-elect Henry S. Barker.

However, Prof. Rhoads has not indicated that he will accept the position, and it is certain that he will not do so until the directors of the university take definite action in the matter.

The name which will be attached to the new chair, if it is created has not been made known, but the position will be for the remainder of the life of the educator and will carry with it much responsibility as well as a liberal remuneration.

Prof. Rhoads is one of the most capable educators in Kentucky and is widely known as such. In addition to his duties in the schools of the state he is a prominent member of the Knight of Pythias and is a director of the Pythian home in this city.

If he accepts an offer to take the chair which probably will be created at the State university, he will still be able to devote considerable of his time to his present work under the General Education board.

THOMAS WRITES GHOST STORY

That Was Recited to Him
Recently.

Strange Noises Disturbed Boys and Later Entire Household.

I am going to tell you a ghost story; a story of a haunted house and a haunted garden, where disembodied spirits play their ghastly part even in the glare of a noonday sun. I am going to recount a ghost tale, not of the long ago time nor of a far away place, but of yesterday and right among you.

I do not indeed believe in ghost nor spooks nor witchery, but shall tell the tale as it came to me from the mouth of a man who was in every way the soul of truth and honor, but a man who in some strange way deceived himself. I repeat the tale to show how men of truth and honor in every normal thing may be deceived in the reading of events. If the man whose story I am about to tell were alone of all mankind to believe such tales I should not tell it here, but men in every age and place have told such tales and somehow men in every place are found who will believe them. The burning of witches in our own New England is a recent example of the absurd belief of sincere men. My informant pledged me at the time to confidence but since now he can never know I feel at liberty to repeat him. He told the story to others than myself who will vouch for the accuracy of my statement. The story was so strange and earnest I will let him tell it as he told it to me.

"The night we moved to the place the two boys were sent to bed in the long end room. Late in the night the younger boy screamed out for me to come there, that somebody was walking over the bed. I thought it only the cat but with a light looked over the room but could find nothing. Several nights later the younger boy screamed again and came running in to my room. I again went into the room but found nothing that would account for the boys' fright. I asked the older boy if he had felt the cat walking over the bed. He said no, it was somebody. I was astonished. You know he would not get frightened at anything (this boy was an imbecile) and I searched the room carefully without results. After this experience had been repeated several times I sent the boys to another room and slept there myself for several weeks but the walking upon the bed was not repeated.

"In his meantime however, other strange things happened about the place. In the open hall between the house and kitchen the whirl of the spinning wheel was often heard in daylight. It became so common indeed that even the children ceased to pay any attention to it. One winter night my wife awoke me late in the night and told me that somebody was stealing apples from the garden. We had the apples buried in the garden and we heard a noise like some one digging with a hoe in the frozen ground. I took my gun and slipped quietly out to the garden and although a full moon was shining nobody was to be seen. Shortly after I had returned to bed we heard the same unmistakable digging in the frozen ground with a hoe in the garden again and I crept noiselessly to a window overlooking the entire garden but could see no one there. The digging sound from the garden like the whirl of the wheel soon became so common to attract attention. It is said that the prosperous farmer living in the house during the civil war buried a quantity of gold in the garden and that it was never afterward found. I have sometimes wondered if this could be the depraved spirit of the old miser digging for his gold, and if the ghost of his industrious wife sometimes came back to her old task at the spinning wheel. I never heard it myself but my wife tells me that frequently at noon a well remembered voice called out, 'Is dinner ready?'

"Only a few nights ago a young lady was spending the night with my daughter and they slept in the long room as we call it, and sometime in the night she screamed like one in desperate fright that some one was walking over her feet. My daughter accustomed to the experience, tried to assure her that it was only the cat but she said she knew better and came into my wife's room and no assurance could induce her to return to the bed room that night. I don't know how to account for it but I could devote hours to telling you of strange and unnatural things that have taken place since we moved there."

Such is a fragment of the stories that this man told me of the haunted place, and while I am wholly convinced that he and his family were in error, I tell this as another illustration of the strange credulity of human nature. J. H. THOMAS.

They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood, give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion, good health. Try them 50c at all druggists.

Who Like to Receive Gifts

GRANDPA

PAPA

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

GRANDPA—Born a long time ago, but still takes an interest in life. Began to receive knit slippers as Christmas gifts a few years back. Would prefer something else this year, maybe a meerschaum pipe.

GRANDMA—Born a few years later than grandpa and still considerably younger. Already has on hand large stock of shoulder shawls received at Christmas. Fancies Chanter bonnets.

PAPA—Born long enough ago to have acquired the ability to judge cigars by natural selection; hence prefers to buy his own brand. Not old enough for gold headed canes. Umbrellas not barred.

MAMMA—Doesn't tell her age except to the census man. Still very young at heart. Deserves the best that givers can afford. Nothing too good for mother.

CHOLLY—Age twenty-one or so. Has fancy tastes, but will accept with thanks anything from a Christmas card to an aeroplane. Likes to fly high anyhow, but will settle down to earth when he gets the girl.

MISS GLADYS—About nineteen now. Dolls and Teddy bears no longer receivable. Boxes of bonbons, chocolates preferred, not refused. Candy kisses acceptable, but prefers the mistletoe make. Willing to receive anything from a jeweled hatpin to an offer of marriage.

THE HEAVENLY TWINS—Born several years ago and growing rapidly. Willie's tastes run to skates, sleds and motorcycles. Millie wants so many things she hardly knows what she wants.

BABY—See family Bible for date of birth. If only six weeks old, rubber rattle thankfully received. If ten months, high chair for table. If three years, contents of entire toyshop.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 16.

We desire Santa Claus to remember that our stock will be bursting in the same old place.

If we should have a continual line of Democratic Presidents for the next one hundred years, the youngest infant now living will never see the appointment by one of them of a Republican Chief Justice for the United States.

The probability is that Judge E. C. O'Rear will in a short time announce his candidacy for Republican nomination for governor and that he will have no serious opposition. Judge O'Rear is extremely popular all over the state, among men of all parties, and he is especially popular with the farmers because of his championship of their cause on every occasion.

We are very sorry that President Taft could not see his way clear to honor that eminent Kentucky jurist, who has so long graced the Supreme Court bench as an associate Justice, by elevating him to the Chief Justiceship. This would have been a well deserved climax to a great record and at the same time would have given preference to a Republican.

The editorial in this paper of last week's issue in regard to better passenger facilities on the railroad was copied and commented upon by both the Owensboro Messenger and Inquirer, very favorably, and the business men's association of that city has been requested to take the matter up at once. Hartford citizens should co-operate with them to secure this much needed reform.

The Republican comes to its readers this week the largest of any edition of any paper ever issued in Hartford. This has been brought about by the activity of the junior editor, who conceived the idea several weeks ago and has worked it up industriously and successfully. We know that our readers will appreciate this effort to give them something in the way of a Christmas surprise and at the same time we are furnishing our advertising patrons an opportunity to be heard in their claims for the Christmas trade.

President Taft this week broke the record in appointing Democrats to office by naming Justice Edard Douglas White, of Louisiana, to be Chief Justice of the United States and Judge Joseph Rucker Lamar, of Georgia, to be a Justice of the United States Supreme Court. At the same time he appointed Mr. C. C. McChord, a Democrat of Kentucky, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Mr. McChord will have two important appointments to make, paying salaries from $2,400 to $3,000 each, which the Courier Journal remarks will be filled by two good Kentucky Democrats. Upon hearing of these appointments a prominent Republican senator was heard to remark that, "The Supreme Court had also gone Democratic."

Ohio County gained less than four hundred in the new census. How much of this can be credited to Hartford we do not know. We do know, however, that no effort is being made by our citizens to build up this town by inviting business enterprises and good citizens to settle among us. Those who own the land in Hartford place a prohibitive price upon it, whenever anyone seeks to purchase for the purpose of locating here. We will never grow, never have any business enterprises here with which to furnish employment for our boys to prevent them from drifting away into other countries, unless we go out and secure some manufacturing plants. To do this we must compete with other towns and cities which not only offer reduced prices for land, but often give them locations, outright and exempt from taxes for a certain period until they can become established. Let our Commercial Club take on new life in the new year and see if something cannot be done to arouse old Hartford from her lethargy. We have one of the best towns in all Kentucky, made up of the best citizens, flourishing school, no town of our size can boast a better one, healthful to a degree which is distracting to the physicians, with railroad and steamboat facilities for transportation, electric lights, water works and modern sanitary sewerage system. These last named conveniences are only to be had in cities of the first, second, and third classes, very few fourth class cities can boast of such improvements. HARTFORD MUST HAVE SOME MANUFACTURING PLANTS WITHIN THE NEXT TWELVE MONTHS. Let this be the slogan of every good citizen who desires the welfare and prosperity of this town.

Among the many suggestions which have been made as to why Kentucky has made such a poor showing in the census returns we have seen none which to our minds strikes the most important and reasonable cause among all excuses. Our tax laws have been one of the reasons which has been mentioned by many newspapers and we have no doubt this furnishes a very plausible reason for our lack of increase in population. The rate of taxation is far above that in many states and if one happens to live in a city or even a small town in Kentucky he will find himself paying from $2.00 to $2.50 per hundred dollars taxes, besides three distinct assessments for poll tax which will amount to $4.50. The night rider outbreak has been cited as one probable cause for the lack of increase. This may be true in some counties, but what a woe to say with reference to a county like Ohio, which has never had any night rider trouble and which gained less than four hundred according to the census returns in ten years. In the opinion of the writer the most plausible reason for our failure to keep up with the procession is the wearing out of our lands in the production of tobacco, thus compelling our farmers to go west by thousands, because of the increased unproductiveness of the soil. Our soil has been sold to the American Tobacco Company at ruinous prices, leaving the farmer nothing with which to build up the waste places until thousands upon thousands of acres of Kentucky lands have been thrown out, washed in deep ravines, grown up in briars, thistles and bushes, absolutely worthless. Much of this soil will require years of patient economic nursing under the most improved methods to bring it around to a productive condition. The low prices of tobacco, the main Kentucky crop, has caused thousands of the best blood of Kentucky to throw up their hands in disgust and go west in search of homes where there are prospects making a comfortable living and of leaving an inheritance behind for their posterity.

Christmas Poem.

Thanksgiving Day is mighty fine
With the turkey and pumpkin pie,
But the jolliest time in all the year
Is Christmas time, so night.

Over the snowy fields so white
Old Santa Comes with his toys
That are made for good little kids
You know
And not for naughty boys.

Way down in the corner of his pack
He has a gun for me,
One that'll make a terrible noise
And make the boys say "gee!"

He'll bring some other things I hope
He knows what I like best
Things I think are awful nice
But sister calls a pest.

My mother says that we must give
To these we love the most
And not exchange so many gifts
So of numbers we can boast.

If that must really be the case
I'll give to her and gap
And to another one I know
A poor and crippled chap.

I'm going to make this year
The nicest time he's had
I'll give him half my toys and things
And make him awful glad.

I'll be as happy as if I'd had
Them all for my very own
For pleasure's twice as great when
As when it's had alone.

OHIO COUNTY BOY KILLED IN WEST.

Was In Charge of Freight Train in the West When Killed.

Owensboro, Ky., Dec. 13.—Information was received in Owensboro Sunday afternoon by Miss Isabelle Bean, of the sudden death of her brother, Lawrence Bean, which occurred somewhere between San Francisco and Salt Lake City, while he was in charge of a freight train. Miss Bean learned that he was killed in a wreck, but further than that she was not informed.

Mr. Bean was 26 years of age and is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Bean of Beaver Dam, two brothers and two sisters. His sister Miss Isabelle Bean is employed in the city tax collector's office, and is well known in Owensboro.

The remains will be sent to Beaver Dam for burial.

About two weeks ago, Mr. Bean wrote to his parents stating that he would spend Christmas with them, and that he would leave Salt Lake City within the next few days.

While visiting in New Orleans several years ago, a sister of Mr. Bean, wrote to her parents that she would arrive home in time to spend the holidays with them, and a few days before Christmas they received a telegram stating that she had been fatally shot.

"No, was the answer.

"Too bad, you've lost one quarter of your life."

"Know anything about geology?"

"No."

"Too bad, you've lost half your life."

"Know anything about geometry?"

"No."

"Too bad, you've lost three-quarters of your life."

The yash from a steamer upset the boat and both its occupants were thrown into the river.

"Can you swim, professor?" said the boatman.

"No, John, I can't," came the reply.

"Too bad," said his companion, "you've lost all your life."

LETTER FROM COUNTRY BOY IN THE CITY.

Ohio County Boy Making Good in Great City, But Likes "Back to the Farm Movement."

The following letter written from a young man now living in the city, and from a prominent Ohio County family, will no doubt be quite interesting to many of our readers, and especially those on the farm. This young man spent his boyhood on a farm, but is now a piece of the machinery that goes to complete a mighty organization in a busy metropolis; but listen to what he has to say about the pleasures of farm life. The letter follows:

In some respects we think you were a little unjust in your letter to us, and we can hardly understand why you should entertain any such foolish ideas as indicated by your letter. I am sure you have never been further from the true facts in any instance. You were no doubt honest in your opinion, but why you should feel that way is somewhat puzzling to me. Where did you get the idea that I felt I was so grand? I am sure there is nothing whatever that would justify any such conclusion on my part, and I am just as sure that no such feeling exists. On the other hand I want to assure you that I fully realize what a small insignificant piece of humanity I am and the very small part of the roll which I play. You stating that I thought myself "above" you rather leads me to believe that you feel that your situation and mine are on different planes as regards social equality. If that is the way you feel about it, this is a mistaken idea on your part, and you should by all means be proud that you are on a farm. It is the most independent and wholesome life to live and the most elevating of any vocation imaginable. And please don't overlook the fact that it is the farm that is continually producing the new and best brain material for the cities. In these days, (excepting a few farmers themselves who have not the opportunity of reading and mingling with the world in general and on that account are not enabled to develop broader ideas and a better sense of reasoning, and a few of the more ignorant city people) no exact or profession considers the farmer or his vocation to be in any way inferior. The pursuit of agriculture is in no way of less importance that the pursuit of any profession or trade whatsoever. It is in fact of far greater importance than the whole of all the other pursuits, for without the farmer we could not live in either the country or the city, while we could live, as our forefathers did, without any of the professions or trades. But it is vital that we have them all, and every man should be encouraged in his selection no matter in what line, but first of all comes the farmer. Indeed farming has always been a very varied and somewhat scientific industry, and during the past few years it has been developed and conducted on very scientific basis and requires far more knowledge and study than most professions and trades. The professions and trade may require a small outlay of money and hard work to get started but all in all far more should be given to farming. It is indeed true that in some cases, when you look only at outside appearances without going to the inside facts, the farmers in some instances are apparently more prosperous than their city brothers of equal ability. That is due to many reasons and conditions. One of the reasons for this apparent difference in favor of the city man is the fact that in almost every instance every cent the city wage earner makes goes to his wardrobe and dining table, and the showing made with the former item. A part of it is due to the fact that some of the farmers do not work as many days in the year, or live as economical, and in many instances the greater part of the Farmer's earnings is put into stock, real estate, etc., while the city man is accumulating nothing unless it is some grocery accounts. Many of our country people who live on the farm and enjoy the luxuries and privileges which are denied the city people do not realize what you have and you are wasteful and extravagant. And often the farmer depends too much on hard work alone, especially the small farmer, without enough study of methods in connection with the labor. He should read and study like the business man is bound to do. If the man in business to-day does not continue to work exceedingly hard and study persistently and adopt new and improved methods for his work he will soon be out of business penniless. The farmer has many more branches and peculiarities to dig out than is required of most business men or professional men. The fact that the farmer is reared up in the work and has the many requisites drilled into him almost from the cradle has a tendency to lead a great many people into the mistaken idea that it does not require any study or experience to live on and run a farm. Should you take a man from the city who had not been on a farm during his whole life he would have to rely upon reading and his neighbors or make a failure. Even the most incompetent farmer is in most cases far more intelligent than the city laborer and has a broader reasoning power and is much more apt to adapt himself to different circumstances and conditions with greater success. To know where and when to begin the many operations necessary to produce only one insignificant crop is a very complicated and extensive affair in comparison with the operation of many of the business lines and professions. To be successful in any undertaking of course, whether it be in the city or on the farm, requires a lot of persistent efforts in both labors whether mental or physical. What we might term an ordinary farmer in the country is of course far superior in most every particular, mentally, morally, physically, etc., to the ordinary laborer in the city, and with the leading farmers, blessed with better locations and better soil, and therefore more income, they are the foundation of the country and upon the farm we might say depends the whole world for existence.

In Memory.

On Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and 30 minutes Oct. 18th, 1910, the white winged Angel of Death entered the home of V. M. Stewart and took the loving wife and mother, and gently bore her spirit away to realms of light where there is no more pain and sorrow or sad good byes. Dear mothers voice is still; a place is vacant in our home, which never can be filled. Let us weep not dear father and brothers but may we so live that when the Lord shall call we will be ready to go and meet her where parting is no more.

Through all pain at times she'd smile A smile of heavenly birth, And when the angel called her home She smiled farewell to earth.

Heaven retains now our treasure Earth the lonely castle keeps, And the sunbeams love to linger Where our saluted mother sleeps. ONLY DAUGHTER.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good." It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. Ask Your Neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures. If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. THE JOLLY JACK TAR

BY HARRY SYPHER

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

OH, the jolly Jack Tar! he is far away from home,
Aboard the nation's battleship upon the briny foam.
At Christmas time and all times he sails the seven seas;
He quaffs the fragrant spices in every foreign breeze,
And always when the day comes round that comes but once a year
He sighs to quaff the fragrance of his fireside cheer.

BUT still the jolly Jack Tar upon the billowed brine,
For all his lonesome feeling, is never heard to whine.
From somewhere east of Suez he gets his Christmas greens
And decks himself all over with a wealth of woodland scenes.
With gorgeous glee he decks himself upon the hammock deck,
With evergreens upon his heart and holly round his neck.

THOUGH jolly Jack has not a chance to hang the mistletoe
And kiss the girl he left behind in case she gets below,
He hitches up his trousers and he whistles through his teeth
And goes and makes the mascot goat a jolly holly wreath,
And then he sings a chanter song, with loud guffaws between,
Anent the merry mascot and the wearing of the green.

THEN down within his mess room the jolly Jack Tar sits
And culls a Christmas dinner from the galley and the kits,
And Billygoat and Nannygoat are both remembered, too—
They get a bounteous feast themselves when jolly Jack is through.
For, though they have no spinach, they devour the Christmas greens—
The holly and the shrubbery and all the woodland scenes.

Farmers Club Meets.

The Ohio County Farmers Club met at the Court house last, 6th, at 2 o'clock p. m.

The president being absent Mr. T. H. Tanner was elected as President Pro Tem.

Moved that we proceed to the election of a committee on program. The following committee was elected: L. B. Tichenor, Melvin Stewart, Henry M. Pirtle, J. A. Hocker, Edgar Bushm. The committee at once retired and the body discussed different subjects until the committee was ready to report. Then the committee made the following report:

We the committee beg to submit the following program for our next meeting.

Invocation—Rev. Virgil Elgin
Should Agriculture be taught in the public school if so to what extent—Prof. T. H. Smith.

Making Pea Hay—Henry M. Pirtle.
Keeping up interest in the Farmers Club—Prof. Henry Leach.

Restoring fertility to worn out lands—Edgar Bushm.
Preparing tobacco for market—D. Ford.

The care of an apple orchard—F. W. Pirtle.
Why should a farmer raise Sheep—Melvin Stewart.

My choice hogs and why—J. P. Foster.

Questions relating to Agriculture.

After a short discourse by Edgar Bushm in regard to creating an interest in the farmers club the body adjourned to meet the first Saturday in January at the court house at 10 o'clock a. m.

To those who do not understand the object of the Farmers Club, we wish to say that it is simply a gathering of farmers to argue the different modes of cultivation, of different crops, the different rotation of different crops to improve our land

In other words it is an educational meeting for the advancement of more scientific up-to-date farming. It is simply institute work taken up by the farmers who have the experience here at home. It is no rest to any one to join so every one is urgently requested to attend and lend a helping hand the time is now at hand when the farming people are compelled to use more brain in their work and more up-to-date methods and machinery instead of so much manual labor.

So come out one and all and let us help each other, would be glad if the women would attend and take a part perhaps they may be benefited, at least it will be encouraging and cause the men to strive so much harder.

So don't forget the first Saturday in January 1911 such a good time to start.

W. C. WALLACE, Pres. Pro. T. m.
HENRY M. PIRTLE, Secretary.

Many Happy Returns.

More postcards are being sent each year, and the writers of the messages on these cards are our most widely-read authors. Mrs. Agnes (Grace) Foster, of Chicago, so far as known, was the first person to write messages for postcards that were personal, the thought addressed directly by the sender to the recipient. Her postcard, "You" has been widely circulated. This is her forty-seventh birthday, but she says "Birthday counts for naught, unless each milestone's mortised in securely by right thought."

Akin to Free-Trade.

The Evening Telegraph of Philadelphia says that "Henry Cabot Lodge's free hides are not the first token of New England's partiality for free raw materials." That is true. A good deal of the Protectionism of New England is of the kind that considers only the interests of New England; true Protectionists, on the other hand, always have in view the benefit that will accrue to the whole country. The difference in the two ideas is so marked that most writers on Protection now count New England "Protectionists" as nearer akin to Free-Trade than to themselves.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Croker is Right for Once.

Richard Croker remarks: "I don't think a Republican tariff is responsible for the high cost of living. The people have more to-day of everything that makes for comfort." While we are not in the habit of voting favorably a Democrat Ex-Boss Croker's caliber, also remarking that his statement is in direct conflict with the assertions of Democratic orators in Indiana during the late campaign we yet arise to proclaim our belief that he is right. And time will prove the truth of the statement. The high cost of living is due, to some cause or causes not yet generally recognized but assuredly not to the Republican Tariff. We are not too young to remember that the Republicans lost the "off year" election immediately after the McKinley bill became a law, and yet the country witnessed a revival of business and great prosperity when once that law got into operation. It is likely to prove so in the present instance. In the crushing defeat of the Republicans, November 8, history merely repeated itself so far as the result was caused by the cry about high prices due to the Tariff law. See if we are not right—Rockville Ind. Republican.

Now Is the Time.

What American industry most needs is peace. A stop to agitation will rest all disturbed minds and it will be surprising how quickly normal conditions will prevail. Once at rest the true conditions will be better understood and all that the Tariff reform shouters at Washington dare do under peaceful conditions is to make a bluff at Tariff revision. They know that the bed rock of American industry is Protection and with the exception of a very few adjustments that would have come in due time anyway we doubt if they dare go further in letting down the bars. The truth will count most when heads are cooled and there is opportunity to think it over. The press has played its game and is now gratifying its former policy for Free Trade or material revision, as it is a fact beyond dispute that labor will be called upon to lose $100 in wages for every $10 saved by letting in foreign competition, and labor, organized and unorganized is awakened from the dream and getting somewhat inquisitive. It has overstept sure enough but the truth will prevail and the day of reckoning is not far off for those who have so wilfully misrepresented the facts during the past two or three months. Now is the time for the boomers of American industry to get in their work. The textile can furnish thousands of boomers, and to look, talk and act cheerfully will go a long way toward the finish of the agitator. Our suggestion is to begin now and never let up until the business of the country is on the high road to permanent prosperity with a satisfied people legislating will not have courage to plunge the country in a drastic depression. Fibre and Fabric.
